FOUNDATION SCHOLARSHIPS	After 2 nd year foundation scholarship exams	All students	Students in the Senior Freshman (second) year may compete for a foundation scholarship, which will go into effect at the start of the student's third year. Up to ninety foundation scholars are elected annually on the basis of performance in the scholarship examination, which is usually held in the week before the start of the second term. Foundation scholars are entitled to a range of privileges, including a reduction of non-EU fees to EU fee-level (approximately €6,000 per year), a free Commons meal every weekday evening of term and an entitlement to College rooms free of charge during the academic year. Foundation scholarships are held for a term of five years, meaning that students who continue on to postgraduate study retain their 'Schols' benefits. In addition to the tangible benefits held by Scholars, these scholarships are highly prestigious, conferring a lifelong status within the College. Successful candidates, those achieving an overall first class result in the examination for scholarship, are elected by the Board on Trinity Monday, which marks the beginning of the annual Trinity Week when the community celebrates high standards of achievement among students and staff. For more information, see here: www.tcd.ie/academicregistry/exams/scholarship	A scholarship is tenured for 5 years, during which time the Scholar is entitled to free Trinity accommodation, their evening meal free of charge at Commons, a waiver of their tuition fees or student contribution (non-EU students' fees are reduced by the value of EU fees) and a small annual stipend.
